6. CHILDREN'S ONLINE PRIVACY PROTECTION ACT (COPPA) COMPLIANCE

We take our obligations under the Children's Online Privacy Protection Act (COPPA) of 1998 very seriously. For children under the age of thirteen (13) years old, the Site does not intentionally disclose, collect, or use Personal Information, except to the extent that COPPA allows, unless we have been given parental approval to use disclose, collect, or use the Personal Information of children under the age of thirteen (13).

If we determine that your child is under the age of thirteen (13) we will ask your child for his/her parent or guardian' email address in order to obtain your consent to your child's usage of the Site. We will not retain your child's email address without your permission. However, there may be situations when we do collect your children's email address and first name without first getting your permission. These situations include, but are not limited to:

1. When your child contacts us through our Site and we retain your child's email address and name to respond to this request. You must email info@jurispprudence.com if you would like us to stop communicating with your child via email. Your email to us must reference your child's email address so that we will know to whom we should stop sending electronic communications.

2. The Site may offer promotions or contests in which we may ask your child for his/her email address, as well as your email address in order to inform you that your child has enrolled in the activity, promotion, or contest.

We may ask your child to provide us with information that we do not consider as Personal Information, such as your child's age, gender, birthday, hobbies, and poll questions related to our Site content.

7. VERIFIABLE CONSENT VIA EMAILED CONSENT FORM

Parents of children under the age of thirteen (13) acknowledge that by providing your written consent, this Site or we may use your child's Personal Information as described in this Policy. If we need to collect your child's email address in order to allow their participation with the Site, we will first request that your child provide us with your email address so that we can email you a consent form. We will ask that you return the written consent form to us via mail within fourteen (14) days after we send the consent form to your via email address.

8. UPDATING INFORMATION RELATING TO YOUR CHILD'S PERSONAL INFORMATION

You may email us at info@jurispprudence.com if you would like us to destroy or stop collecting your child's Personal Information. You may review the personal information that we have collected from your child by providing your email address, which we obtained at the time you provided consent for us to collect your child's Personal Information.

You acknowledge that the Site may contain links to the websites of third parties. You acknowledge that we are not legally affiliated with these third party websites, and we are not aware of and have no control over the privacy policies or practices of such third party websites.

9. REASONABLE EFFORTS TO MAINTAIN SECURITY OF YOUR PERSONAL INFORMATION

You acknowledge that it is not possible to maintain complete and absolute security of your Personal Information. Accordingly, we will use reasonable efforts to guard your Personal Information against any loss, destruction, unauthorized disclosure, theft, misuse, or other damage to your Personal Information. However, you understand that we cannot guarantee that your information will be protected. You agree that we are not responsible for any misuse, loss, or damage to your personal information. You agree to email us info@jurispprudence.com if you believe that your Personal Information has been damaged or placed at risk of damage after using this Site.

10. ACKNOWLEDGEMENT TO USE SITE IN LAWFUL MANNER
